

Support sexual health

Introducing

HerSynergy™ Female libido support

Low romantic desire affects about 27% of women in premenopause and 52% after menopause.[†] A woman's libido is influenced by a complex combination of physical and psychological factors, including stress, tension, fatigue, mood, hormones, and health status. In addition to helping your patients with healthy lifestyle choices, stress management, and proper medical care, now you can offer targeted, advanced nutritional support with HerSynergy.

HerSynergy is formulated to support libido in women with a special, concentrated extract of fenugreek^{††} that may support female sexual health.^{†††} This formula also supplies targeted vitamins and minerals for the maintenance of good health.

- Features fenugreek, a safe and effective botanical to help libido in women
- Supplies a unique blend of vitamins and minerals to help address overall health
